A member of that first placed schools team, Courtney Winter, won the Junior Section of the Herdsperson Competition ahead of 12 other entrants and with it the Agrisea NZ sponsorship of $500 to travel to Palmerston North next year to compete in the Future Beef Hoof and Hook competition. She will also get to travel to Beef Week in Rockhampton next May, courtesy of Woolstone, where Pittsworth High School has kindly offered to include her in their school team. Two other members of the Rangiora High School group working with Woolstone, Kate Campbell and Keighley Robertson, were second and third respectively in the same competition and only 3.25 points (out of a possible 200) separated the top three.
